omen Needed In Reconstruction Work Says Morganthau

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 17.-Henry orgenthau, former United States amsador to Turkey, in an address before the Connectiout Women's Suffrage convention, at Bridgeport, said that women were urgently needed today in world reconstruction. His topic was "The Woman Citizen, and Reconstruction." Mr. Morgenthau said, in part: "Tour sex has fought 50 years for the right to vote, for the right to assist in governing, and you will come into possession of that right at a time when you will be most needed. If women will go into the government and use the qualities which made them good rothers, I haven't the least doubt but things will change. Ladles, we really need you more than you need the vote. If the limit of woman's capacity is to remain at home and attend to children, then I am disappointed. I believe we all ought to rise above party lines, and use our energy to help the world, which feeds us now as never before.

"My ideas of suffrage have changed considerably since I was in Turkey, where conditions are outrageous. There women are slaves to men. They are uncultured and not allowed to speak to any men except their husbands. ore the Connecticut Women's Suffrage BUDGET CLUB EXTENDS considerably since I was in Turkey, there conditions are outrageous. There women are slaves to men. They are uncultured and not allowed to speak to any men except their husbands. These conditions strengthened my ideas of suffrage, and greatly increased my interest in the cause. Now this problem of reconstruction is something that the women of the world must be a part of. I believe the great problem of reconstruction is something that the women of the world must be a part of. I believe the great problem of reconstruction applies very little to the United States. There is nothing destroyed in America. If you could go abroad, you would think we only had a football game, as compared to some of those countries of Europe."

Holford Knight, barrister of England, told the suffragists that the keynote of the new age will be co-operation. He said that unless the people of the United States and England co-operate, dark days are in store for both countries.

He continued: "Important persons in Europe will have to be watched by both America and Great Britain, and I would like to see everything done to strengthen the co-operation between our country and yours. I am satisfied that in the continuance of the pleasant feeling between the men and women of Great Britain and America lies the hope of the world."

TO SETTLEMENT HOUSES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Believing that the increased cost of living has brought home to people in moderate circumstances, as never before, the imperative need for national economy, the national budget committee has extended its Fortnightly Budget club campaign to settlement houses in New York city and will shortly broaden the work so as to include settlement houses in all the large cities of the country.

The committee's purpose is to encourage sane thinking on national issues. Its members wish to present vital economic facts to men and women attending settlement house meetings so that they will feel a keener sense of personal responsibility in the selection of candidates for county, state and national offices.

ORDER WAS MAINTAINED IN CAPITAL OF AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Nev. 27.—Order was maintained in the Austrian capital during the recent general railway strike and suspension for eight days of street car service. To save electric light and gas, apartment houses, coffee houses and restaurants were required to close early. This increased the food shortage and put the public to great inconveniences as during the eight days the strike lasted the doors of the apartment houses were closed at 8 p.m.

The only profiteers were the porters of apartment houses and the drivers of public carriages. The carriage drivers charged exorbitantly. There are only 300 of these vehicles in the city and virtually no taxicabs. One physician wrote to a newspaper that he was compelled to pay 1,600 crowns to be driven a mile to a dying patient.

One anti-Jewish demonstration was checked by the police before it had reached the riot stage.

As the government now is, with the workmen and soldiers council playing such a strong part, there seems no attempt to regulate public transportation charges and the drivers exact what they can.

At this writing the menace of another coal famine still hangs over the city. The coal supply is most uncertain and affects transportation so directly that the food supply is seriously involved. The peasants still refuse to let grain come to the city, and are hearding potatoes and other standard foods. The Vienna papers charge that in the agricultural districts there is ample food of all kinds. Returning travelers from country districts tell the hungry Viennese of milk and butter and cheeke in plenty, as well as sugas.

The farmers have made money until they are rich and, as the crown no longer has a purchasing value to speak of, they do not want any more. Here tales are told of pianos, phonographs, rugs and pictures filling peasant farm houses where the city dwellers have exchanged them for food.

The peasants have been warned that if Vienna really begins to starve this winter they may look for civil war, as the city dwellers will organize and arm and invade the agricultural districts.

Eggs have practically disappeared from the city and there is this week a bare two weeks' supply of grain and potatoes in reserve.

"SHAVE OR QUIT" IS MANDATE TO WAITERS

PARIS. Nov. 27. (By the Associated Press.)—Walters in seven or eight of the largest cafes on the Paris boule-yards have been stirred to anary pro-test by orders to shave their mustaches or out.

When Democrats get together to discuss presidential possibilities the name of Herbert Hoover is often mentioned. The chief trouble with Mr. Hoover, it is generally agreed, is the fact that he isn't much of a party man. His ability as an executive and as an administrator care is consider. One of the bitterest grievances th waiters had when they went on strike last April was the edict of the employ-ers to the effect that waiters must sac-last April was the edict of the employers to the effect that waiters must sacrifice their mustaches. The waiters triumphed and the employers agreed they should be permitted to adorn their visages as they pleased. Now an attempt to revive the ban on mustaches has roused their indignation.

"The waiters are sufficiently humiliated to have to earn their living by extending their hands to receive what often proves to be a ridiculous tip, without being forced to forego one of the privileges of manhood," said the secretary of the union. "Really the feroclous employers know little about psychology. Should they maintain this inquitous measure, destined solely to give their staff a servile appearance toward the customer, they are picking out a poor time for it. Whether through snobbishness or in the hope of appearing original, customers choose to make their faces as glabrous and depliated as that of the Americans or aim to copy the two commas on the upper lip of a well-known moving picture actor, that is their business. We must insist that the conventions entered into at the time of the strike be respected, that the mustache has always been in vogue in France and to suppress it is an indignity and diminishes the morale, value and patriotism of the persennel of the cafes."

WASHINGTON, Nev. 27.—Inspection and analyses of foods and drugs imported to the United States from foreign countries are being made in laboratories conducted by the department of agriculture as a protection against misbranding and harmful administration. Greater quantities of such imports are coming from abroad each month, officials of the department say, and the necessity of strict enforcement of federal statutes is increasing.

Involves of all food and drugs shipped into the United States are being scrutinized, and all consignments that there seems reason to believe are misbranded or adulterated are carefully examined in many cases chemical analysis is required to determine whether the law is violated or avaded. The bureau of chemistry has branch stations for this purpose in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Savannah, New Orleans, San Francisco, San Juan, Porto Rico, and at other lesser ports.

Eggs vs. Government Bonds Eggs Are Going Up-See?

Grain feeds do not increase egg production, and never will. Why?

Grain feeds will maintain the body and supply fats to stimulate yolk development, but the hen requires rich protein feeds to stimulate the development of the whites (albumen, pure protein) of the eggs.

These are proven scientific facts, backed by Government and State college experiment stations.

The average hen requires three ounces of feed per day-this should cost one cent per day, or thirty cents per month. A hen, properly fed, will produce a minimum of twelve eggs per month, worth sixty cents per month; profit on your feed bills 100 per cent.

Feeding directions:

Feed 11/2 oz. Jewel Hen Feed and 11/2 oz. Jewel Egg Mash per hen per day. Feed the dry mash in hopper or self-feeders. This is the profitable way to feed hens for egg production.
